THE TILTON-BEECHER TRIAL.

A Great Jam in Court.

NEW YORK, April 1—A few minutes after the clock indicated 11 almost every member of the Beecher family was in the court room. Col Henry and William Beecher the Plymouth pastor's two sons, and Herbert Beecher, his nephew came first Beecher's boys gave up their old seats and took chairs just behind that usually occupied by the plaintiff. Rossiter Raymond sat at one side of them and Stephen Pearl Andrews on the other. Mrs Col. Beecher next came in alone and took a seat in the front row At 5 minutes past 11 o clock the main door of the court room opened and Beecher entered looking the picture of ruddy health and accompanied by Mrs. Beecher Mrs Harriet Scoville Mr. Beecher's daughter, and her husband, Rev Mr Scoville, a Congregational pastor of Norwich Conn., Mrs. Beecher's brother Miss Catherine Beecher and 3 unknown ladies. Mr Shearman and Francis D Moulton Moulton turned to the left as he entered the court, went round the jury box and took a seat near Morris at the table of the plaintiff's lawyers, directly in front of the witness stand Just at the instant this remarkable procession entered by the main door the tall figure of Theodore Tilton was seen inside the doorway leading to the judge's private room. Beach was beside him and the two fell back and allowed the other party to pass, while Caldwell made room for the new arrivals. Beach smiled. Tilton stood behind him looking worn and pale. Beach made an attempt to pass and as he did so his eyes met Beecher's. They shook hands pleasantly Tilton looked steadily at Beecher but the latter did not return the gaze. There was a slight attempt at applause when Beecher entered but it gradually died away As he passed through the spectators rose from their seats and the group which had just arrived was minutely scanned At three minutes to 12 Redpath left the witness stand and Evarts, turning to defendant said "Mr Beecher will now be sworn." There was a buzz in the court room and Beecher accompanied by an officer walked round to the witness stand behind the jury box. Every eye was turned on him, but he looked as unmoved and unconcerned as he does on Sunday when ascending the platform of his own church. Frank Moulton bent forward in his seat as Beecher was seen on the platform of the witness stand, leaning over the spectators in the body of the court room. Moulton looked steadily at Beecher while the latter took his seat and never relaxed his careful gaze while he gave his testimony Beecher did not once look toward where Moulton or plaintiff sat He appeared to look over their heads at the crowd or at the jury The preliminary testimony was closely listened to though simply a recital in answer to questions of Evarts of witness' life from childhood his labor as a preacher, journalist, lecturer and author, with an account of his marriage and of his family affairs since. He was questioned about his life as pastor the original size and subsequent growth of Plymouth Church his habits of life, his regular vocations his trip abroad and public speeches he made in England during his absence The answers to all these questions giving a faithful picture of the busy life the witness has lived and the variety of services he has performed as a preacher journalist author and public speaker He was asked in reference to his connection with the Christian Union his replies showing that at the time he took the position as its editor, its circulation was reported to be 3,000, but in his opinion it was not over 600 to 1,000 and during the first year of his editorship it increased to 30,000.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Every approach to the Brooklyn city court room was filled this morning by great crowds who pushed and crushed toward the doors with the hope of securing entrance The morning was fine and there was more than the usual number of women in the crowd Beecher and wife, attended by a larger delegation than usual from Plymouth church, were early in their places.

was recalled by Fullerton and further cross-examined. He was shown a letter and asked if he had an interview with Beecher before it was written. He said he did the evening before This was in July 1874 He saw Beecher at Peekskill Monday and told him he had spent Sunday with Theodore Elizabeth and Frank, and described the interview with Theodore Monday morning Told Beecher Theodore was going to charge him with having committed adultery with Elizabeth during a period extending over two or three years He told Beecher Tilton told him to tell Beecher he was going to charge him with adultery When Tilton said this Moulton was present and walking up and down spoke of his love for both Beecher and Tilton. Witness was asked if he told all that Theodore had said on the subject Witness replied he did and he had read True Story Beecher didn't deny he had given Tilton cause of offense. He said something about a card Moulton wanted him to write, and he had put the whole matter in the hands of men of such character as he was sure would render a just verdict that if the slightest censure was passed on him he would resign in 24 hours. He said he should not again be partly dependent on the good faith, honor or magnanimity of Tilton he was a scoundrel that when the scandal had become quiet he had endeavored to stir it up Beecher said he had tried to live in harmony with every person Beecher said he should make a clean breast of it taking all the blame Witness was asked if in all his conversations Beecher had denied the conviction of adultery. Evarts objected and was supported by Porter who argued that witness had told all that occurred in these conversations and it was for the jury to determine and not the witness whether it was an admission or a denial of the commission of adultery The [illegible] allowed and the witness replied he did not ask him about it The [illegible] I went up to see Beecher about a lecture contract with him

Redpath here left the stand and Beecher rose and said

Mr Beecher, will you be Sworn?

Beecher rose was asked and lifted his hand and at the same time resting he had consented ... again swearing ... He sketched briefly the history of his life from birth and his varied labors including his early efforts as a teacher his connection with Plymouth church with journalism and with public lecturing He was engaged to be married when he was sixteen or seventeen, and married in 18.. when he was twenty three years old I have four children by this marriage with me and five waiting for me I have eight grand children My wife of late years has had poor health ... From a very early period I have remitted my whole money I drew my own salary but the checks were made out in her name She was sound and efficient I think far beyond any other person In my earlier years I attempted to do a great deal of visiting but now I do little only attending weddings and funerals I was cautious about forming intimacies with my parishioners but was always jealous of my rights being interfered with Witness first became acquainted with Henry C Bowen in 18.. who used to be a leading man of the church He was connected with the Independent having at first some interest in it and afterwards becoming sole proprietor For many years he and witness worked together hand in hand Their business relation ceased in 18.6 when witness gave Bowen notice because they were down on witness on account of the Cleveland letter which he wrote. Everybody was down on him except the Democratic party His course was severely criticised in the Independent and he dissolved his contract with the paper Formed the acquaintance of Tilton when he was in the employ of the New York Observer as a short hand reporter He was employed by a New York publisher to report witness' sermons Witness could not tell the date but he was youthful then very youthful He saw him (Tilton) after he left the Observer and went on the Independent Their personal relations were always very cordial He was amusing and witty in conversation but they didn't come into what is called close personal relations at that time Subsequently in 1864 and 1865 there was a proposition to send witness to Europe and a contract was arranged by witness and Bowen by which Tilton was to continue the editorship one year in witness' name and after that if he conducted the paper satisfactorily he was to edit it under his own name Witness then retired ... In 1860 there was a warm discussion in the church over the question of contributing funds to the board of foreign missions which was pro-slavery Witness spoke as did also Tilton who said the secretary was in ... with slavery About this time witness heard of Tilton's rivalry of him Tilton was then a frequent visitor at witness' house but there came a time when he ceased his visits Tilton was always doing witness little kindnesses and had done him a great kindness in regard to his son Henry

At this point a recess was taken

STARTLING RUMORS CONCERNING PACIFIC MAIL.—New York March 23—A special to the Graphic from Washington says there are startling reports concerning the designs of Jay Gould and his associates as to their new railroad and steamship schemes According to the terms of the contract between the United States and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company the former had the right to seize the company's steamers and turn them into war vessels The breaking of this contract by the Government releases the company from this liability, and it is now hinted that the steamers of the Pacific Mail Company's service that are not employed between the Isthmus New York and San Francisco are to be leased to a British company and will carry the British flag This would be done in order to permit the company to charge what it pleases for mail and other services between California and Japanese and Chinese ports The rates proposed will produce an income far greater than the amount of the subsidy that is now withdrawn One part of the programme is to sell the [illegible] and Tokio to the Chinese Government which would give that empire a great advantage over Japan These ships would make first rate war vessels the fastest afloat It is also said that it is part of the plan of the Gould combination to get possession of the Panama railroad For this purpose the stock will be depressed by sending for a time all the freight possible overland and direct by way of the Union Pacific, and then when Panama stock is sufficiently tumbled it will be bought up

THE SOCIETY BOW.—Another link is in the kind of a bow which is the height of elegance, because it is foreign You are not to bend your head with the least degree of reverence That's only suitable in saluting your acknowledged superior but you are to look the party you address cooly in the eye, smile your sweetest and gently incline your head toward the right shoulder with a little backward movement at the same time. It's a little difficult to do at first and practicing before the glass you look as silly as you feel but never mind it's the thing and such fantasies are as contagious as the measles so you'll get it after a little It's easier than saying Good morning! at 5 o clock Newly elected M C's bring their wives here every winter It takes a man months to find out the tricks and the manners which distinguish society people but the average woman either from the prairies of Nebraska or the pine regions of North Carolina will catch all necessary 'airs' in a single winter and be ready to instruct the new comer —Washington Letter.

CARDINALS IN PETTO

[From the N Y Herald]

The appointment of cardinals of the Church in petto as we have shown in the Herald with the Pope in communication with members of the Sacred College already installed The Sovereign Pontiff has the right to name cardinals in petto of his own episcopal act without consultation with the members of the Council and when he does so he keeps—or has hitherto kept—the names secret until the moment when he deems it best to promulgate them

Thus cardinals in petto are eventually destined by the Pope to the high dignity though no one but himself need know anything of the fact It was usual at one period for the Pope to mention their names in secret Consistory as was done by Martin V, but this imperfect promulgation did not entitle them to act as cardinals Then the practice was adopted of simply intimating in Consistory the number but not the names of the persons designated for the purple which had no other effect than to limit the range of the Pope's power of creation as these unknown members were held to belong to the Sacred College A custom has since sprung up of the Pope's writing out in sealed packets the names of cardinals promoted in petto for the guidance of his successor who, however has not hitherto been bound to carry out his wishes in the case of his death and did not invariably do so

Developing from the stage in petto the freshly named cardinal emerges into what was formerly a kind of novitiate, during which he is called a cardinal cum ore clauso invested with the dignity but debarred from all active exercise of office until the Pope has solemnly opened his mouth Eugenius IV declared cardinals in this State incapable of voting in Consistory but the restriction was removed by Pius IV a century later and accordingly Gregory XV ruled that every promulgated cardinal—as distinguished from those in petto—has the inalienable right of the franchise Seven cardinals with closed mouths voted in the election of Clement X in 1670 one of them being Clement himself But in recent times this latter distinction has become a mere formality though it still exists in theory and might at any moment be revived the closing and unsealing of a new cardinal's mouth being accomplished in the same Consistory On the other hand a cardinal's right of franchise in Papal elections once acquired is so strictly "inalienable," to use the term of Gregory XV that no suspension interdict or excommunication can deprive him of it

His Eminence Cardinal Philippo de Angelis who was born at Ascoli on the 16th of April 179. was created and reserved in petto in the Consistory of the 13th September 1838 and published in that of the 8th July 1839

The senior cardinal by creation is Cardinal Patrizzi who was made and reserved in petto on the 23d June 1834 and published on the 11th July 1836 Although Cardinal Patrizzi is six years younger than Cardinal de Angelis having been born at Sienna on the 4th September 1798 he was raised to the high dignity years before the other, and is thus the senior of the sacred college.

Pope Pius IX has as will be seen by our special cable dispatch in this moment of grievous emergency, departed from the usual practice and announced the names of the cardinals in petto These eminent ecclesiastics are thus certain should they live of obtaining the purple, despite the allegation of His Holiness' enemies who charge that he himself has supplied the first example of a Pope annulling his own in petto nomination and that too after it had been formally intimated by letter to the nominee the most distinguished Italian ecclesiastic Rosmini The future cardinal after receiving notice to make preparations for public reception not only found himself, it has been alleged summarily rejected, but his latest work, published by the express direction of the Pope placed on the Index expurgatorius

AFRICANS

Africa is a great fact, we can not get rid of it, and we are fast becoming convinced that it may be turned to a better use than we have hitherto made of it The Africans are irrepressible they have the gift of vitality above most men, and live and multiply under circumstances that would be death to other races The natives of Tasmania have disappeared the Australians are nearly extinct, it is but an actuary's question as to when we shall see the last of New Zealanders, and the Indians of America die out in the presence of the white man Not so the African Place him where you will so long as he gets sunshine and under what circumstances you may, and Israel in Egypt scarcely increased faster It is estimated that there are nearly 15,000 000 of people of African descent in the mainlands and islands of America Africa itself is more thickly peopled than was supposed Instead of 40 000 000 it probably contains 100 000,000 of people We cannot hope to possess ourselves of Africa as we did of America for side by side with us on his own soil, the African would surely prove the stronger So whether we meet with him in his own land or elsewhere, it is manifestly to our own interests (to say nothing of higher motives) to make the best of him It is in Africa itself we must look to the highest possibilities of the race, for those outside are slaves or the descendants of slaves They live also in the lands of their thraldom, and in the presence of those who are, or those who have been, their masters You may free them all, but you will not purge them from the ill effects of slavery simply by emancipating them It will take many years to get rid of the mischief which long generations of slavery have wrought in their natures Had the Israelites after their emancipation remained in Egypt in the presence of their former masters they would have been slaves in nature still And so it was with the free colored men in the United States and West Indies Their associations tend to keep alive the recollections of the past and to check noblest aspirations The galling discomfort if not of legal proscription yet of bitter caste prejudice in the whites and which manifests itself in every day life in a thousand cruel and annoying ways, are greatly against them These people therefore afford us yet no fair criterion of what the African race is capable I believe however that the possibilities of the Africans on their own soil are not inferior to those of any race of men on the earth Their civilization may, in some things prove unlike our own their range of virtue and vice somewhat different yet I do not think they will prove mentally our inferiors, or that their moral standard will be lower I say this from no theory evolved from my own inner consciousness, but from a conviction which is the result of a personal knowledge of them —Cornhill Magazine

MR BOWEN UNDER EXECUTION.—Says the New York Herald of March 16th A Herald representative yesterday called upon Mr. Henry C Bowen proprietor of the Independent for information in reference to the alleged seizure of that gentleman's furniture in his Brooklyn mansion by the Kings county sheriff on an execution in favor of H V Poor in an action in the supreme court In answer to the reporter's queries Mr Bowen answered him that he has been and is now ready to pay the claim of Mr Poor at a minute's notice He cannot do so as Mr Poor's creditors have served several attachments on him absolutely forbidding him from paying Poor a single dollar on the judgment. When the courts or the lawyers decide who shall have the money Mr Bowen says he will promptly pay it and not before He is also ready to pay on prosecution, he says all other claims and demands which can be brought against him

The Mountain Sentinel of the 27th ult says The Northwestern Stage Company are having a lively time in trying to travel the new road across the mountains and trouble has not yet commenced as the roads have not yet begun to break up Parties who have been working in the mountains to help keep the road open tell us that the snow is at least 25 feet deep on the level in many places Small parcels of the mails have been carried on foot by the drivers Forty head of horses, besides the stock of the stage company have been constantly employed in keeping a trail packed in order that men can get over on foot to carry a few letters and daily papers and thus report to the department that they are carrying the mails regularly Passengers have been obliged to remain in these mountains for a number of days and in fact we do not know that Mr Block, of Baker, and Rosenfeld, of Portland, have got out yet Rumor reaches us that numerous damage suits will be the result and there is little doubt that even the powerful Northwestern Stage Company will be financially ruined by the new road, and the reckless mismanagement of the agents, who to gratify personal spleen turned their stages over that route. An order for the mail from Pendleton to La Grande, Island City, and Oro Dell, will probably soon be issued and within a few weeks, in all probability, a line of stages and sleighs, for the conveyance of passengers and fast freight will be placed between Baker City and Umatilla over the Meacham road on which affidavits of responsible men who have been out over the road and made careful examination, affirm that the snow will not exceed five feet and that the roads are in excellent traveling condition

A FOX HOUND'S RUN.—An extraordinary run by a fox hound is thus described by a newspaper published in Titusville Penn Capt Mackey, who resides a short distance below this city, on Monday morning last found a hound lying in one of his fields on the snow and a dead fox by his side The hound's feet were bleeding caused evidently by the frozen crust on the snow, and the result of a very long chase The dog was unable to move and Mr Mackey picked him up and carried him to his house, where he was cared for It was conceded by all that knew the circumstances that the fox had been started from some distance and with that indomitable pluck and perseverance characteristic of the fox hound he had chased him till the fox was completely exhausted On Saturday a gentleman residing near Hartstown Crawford county forty miles from Mackey's residence called and claimed the dog He stated that the hound was started on the Friday before and that he had followed on the trail and found him as above stated Taking into consideration the manner in which a fox runs (continually circling) the gentleman states that in his opinion the dog ran at least 200 miles

UTILIZING APES.—In the Malayan Peninsula large apes of naturally intelligent breeds are employed by their masters much in the same way that human slaves are made use of in some parts of Africa The cocoanut palm is valuable for its fruit but this is very difficult to procure so the landlord of a tope of palms trains his apes to climb the trees and judiciously pick the ripest nuts for him The apes seem to delight in the work. The apes thus employed in the neighborhood of Singapore and Penang are bred in Atchin, and the owners hire them out They go up the trees with a line attached, and obey the command of their masters choosing the proper fruit. They twist the nut round and round till it falls down from its stalk, when the feat is hailed on the part of the apes by jumps and chuckles of evident satisfaction

OUR SALEM LETTER

DAMAGE TO THE FAIR GROUNDS BY THE STORM—NEW MINES ON THE SANTIAM—DIVERS AND SUNDRY OTHER ITEMS

SALEM March 31 1875

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Last Saturday night this place was visited by a remarkably hard storm accompanied with a high wind that shook up things in a lively manner blowing down a new frame building in the eastern part of the city and shaking up those in it in a manner that frightened the female portion of the occupants, and strewing fences in a very promiscuous manner Nearly all the fence inclosing the race track at the State agricultural grounds have been prostrated and badly broken up, thereby entailing a considerable expense upon that society The great quantity of water that fell on Thursday and Friday gave promise of doing considerable damage, but thus far has not caused much inconvenience, only washing out the railroad track in a few places which was repaired on last Sunday and as there was no train on that day no inconvenience was experienced

The sawmill of the Capital Lumbering Company has not yet filled their extensive order for oak, ash and maple lumber for the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, and, in fact, the bill is so large I have been informed that they made special contracts with mills in the country to assist them, as it is very difficult to obtain the logs necessary for sawing It is almost a pity to have such beautiful lumber go out of the State

Mr Waite is now printing the last pages of the award of premiums of State Fair of 1874 and the list for October Fair, 1875 They will be printed in one volume along with rules, regulations licenses and other interesting matter pertaining to that commendable institution to which Oregon is so much indebted for progressive agriculture.

Several gentlemen returned a few days ago from a prospecting trip in the Cascade Mountains towards the source of the main North Fork of the Santiam river, and state that they found placer mines that they feel assured will pay to work when the weather will permit Their trip was attended with many vicissitudes and hardships, which always attend those who attempt the mountains at this season of the year. One of the men remarked that if they had to endure the like hardship for heaven as they did for gold but few would attempt it From another gentleman, who lives at the foot of the mountains I learn that about four times the amount of snow has fallen this month (March) than fell all the other winter months together, which coincides with my observations on that subject.

For some reason the stock that has been well attended and fed did not winter as well as they have for the last two or three winters, especially sheep and cattle. A gentleman who so informed me asked the reason why it was so I replied that it was a conundrum, and so will refer it to some of your readers who rear stock and have probably studied out a solution for the question.

Since the cold weather last January quite a number of gentlemen who had invested in ornamental evergreen trees have arrived at the mournful fact that the cold snap has actually killed them consequently they have vowed that they will never invest in such expensive luxury again, especially when they are a native of a warmer climate, and will not become acclimated in a period of from two to three years' growth and care in Oregon Two trees, especially noted for their extraordinary beauty, belonging to Dr L S Skiff, had been growing in his yard for four years and attained considerable size for their species, but Jack Frost was too much for them consequently, they were pruned close to the trunk, and stand as mournful remains of their former beauty The market for evergreens is not active at present '47

PITCHER BROKEN AT THE FOUNTAIN.—They lately had an ice sensation in Davenport, Iowa The poor people living on the riverside had a hole in the ice where they went with their buckets and drew clear, ready-made ice-water The hole was about twenty inches in diameter, and the consumers keep the well open and in good order The other morning a riverside dweller saw a bucket on the ice near the well, and told his little daughter to go and see whose it was. She went and soon came running back terrified and said there was a dead woman in the water hole The man stirred around amongst his neighbors to find out who was missing He found a man sleeping in bed whose wife had got up at five o clock in the morning and gone to the river to get water to make his coffee. He had fallen asleep again and was not aware of how long the partner of his bed had been gone. A little procession of poor people was made across the ice to the water-hole There was the missing woman lying face upward, staring at the sky through a thin sheet of ice that had closed over her after her death struggle was past. There were marks of blood on the brink, where she had cut her hands clutching at the ice She had become wedged in the narrow aperture so that she could not sink and float away under the thick frozen sheet with the current of the river Her bucket was right-side up and close to the brink. She stepped into the well by accident, in the shadows of the dark morning, and could not drag herself out. She faced futurity just as she lay, and the pitying frost tenderly spread a thin veil over her white face The poor people, dwellers on the river side, have abandoned their water-hole, and no more dripping buckets are carried across the ice since the pitcher was broken at the fountain

A FIFTY CENT LAWSUIT'S CONCOMITANTS.—A paper printed in Scranton, Penn, tells this suggestive story Some days since we gave the details of a dunning suit, to recover fifty cents—Hill vs. McDonald Defendant paid the amount and Alderman's costs Plaintiff on return day came with witnesses and for that claimed costs amounting to $26, sued McDonald and got judgment, whereupon a cow and heifer were levied upon and sold and the judgment satisfied. But it was a Falan's cow, and a suit, Falan vs C. E. Welch, constable, was brought to recover the value of the cow, whereupon plaintiff got judgment for $40—the value of said kine Then Welch to be made whole, sues McDonald and loses his case Everybody gets mad at everybody, and Alderman Lochlin sues McDonald for trespass committed by his cattle and the defendant claims it wasn't his cattle that did the trespassing This case is not decided, having been adjourned

HOW HE COULD DO IT.—On the North London Railway a short time since a passenger remarked in the hearing of one of the company's servants how easy it was to "do" the company and said he often traveled from Broad street to Dalston Junction without a ticket—"any one can do it—I did it yesterday" When he alighted he was followed by the official who asked him how it was done For a consideration he agreed to tell him This being given "Now" said the inquirer, "how did you go from Broad street to Dalston Junction yesterday without a ticket?" "Oh," was the reply "I walked"

TILTON DISCOUNTS A WARD.—When Tilton took Mrs. Woodhull in bathing, all for the noble purpose of shielding poor Beecher, he fairly discounted the late A Ward's famous desire to sacrifice all of his wife's relations rather than have the war prolonged and the South triumphant —Boston Globe

A young apprentice to the shoe making business asked his master what answer he should give to the oft-repeated question, "Does your master warrant his shoes?" "Answer, Thomas," said the master, "that I warrant them to prove good, and if they don't I'll make them good for nothing"

The Toronto Leader states that a new branch of trade has been established between Toronto and British Columbia The well known firm of Cooper, Sessions & Smith has just shipped a large order of boots and shoes of their own manufacture to a business house, by way of the Pacific railway, to San Francisco, thence by steamer to New Westminster, British Columbia. This is the first bill of goods that has been sent from Toronto direct to that distant part of the Dominion.

News has reached Victoria to the effect that cattle in Saanich and Esquimalt districts have commenced to suffer severely from the bad weather and for want of fodder Many deaths have occurred, and it is feared that many more will drop off, as nearly all the herds are in a weak and emaciated condition Last year the winter broke early and cattle pulled through in fine condition, but the present exceptionally bad and severe season will, it is feared, destroy one-half the cattle on the island. Sheep withstand the rigors of the season well

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 2, 1875.

WORK THE CONVICTS.

We are in receipt of information, from a source which we deem altogether reliable, that it is the intention of the penitentiary authorities to discontinue the manufacture of brick this summer. The reason given is that the appropriation by the last Legislature is not sufficient to enable the superintendent to carry on the business. We take the liberty of inquiring if the prisoners will not have to be kept all the same whether they are engaged in making brick or in doing nothing, and whether the comparatively trifling addition of expense necessary to carry on the brick yard would not be more than met by the proceeds of the yard? If the excess of the expense of making brick over that of lying idle is greater than all proceeds of the brick yard, why has this expensive brick manufactory been kept in operation all these past years? and if, on the other hand, the proceeds of the yard have in past years exceeded the extra expense connected with it, why will they not do the same thing this year? The tax-payers of Oregon, who have to foot the bills of the penitentiary, will wait with something more than curiosity to see what answer those who have charge of the institution will make to these questions.

Another phase of the subject is, that the Capitol Commissioners are going to have use for a very large amount of brick during the year and unless they can be obtained as heretofore from the penitentiary brick yard, they must be obtained elsewhere at a much higher price than the cost of producing them by convict labor. The people of the State are paying a heavy tax now for the Capitol building—not the less heavy because it is collected under another name—and yet we are informed it is extremely questionable whether the last appropriation of $100,000 will be sufficient to get the building under roof. Should the appropriation prove insufficient for that purpose, so as to leave the joists and other timbers exposed through another winter, it will be necessary to take them all out, and replace them with new ones. This we say on the authority of competent and experienced builders; and it was shown to be true in the case of the U. S. Custom House in this city. It is then highly important that prison labor be utilized in every way, in order to make the appropriation go as far as possible. Under the present state of business in Oregon, the first and highest duty in every branch of public affairs is to exercise rigid economy.

ANDREW JOHNSON'S SPEECH.

It is only natural that a speech by an ex-President of the United States, upon a subject of national importance, should attract public attention and be commented on by the papers. And when we take into consideration the peculiar facts connected with the history of Andrew Johnson's administration as President, and of his return to the national capitol as a Senator nine years after, barely escaping conviction in that body on articles of impeachment presented by the House of Representatives, it was certainly to be expected that there would be no lack of interest in the public mind to hear what he had to say. Hence we are not surprised to find special mention of his speech on the Louisiana question in the Eastern press. But we confess to a feeling of surprise at the tone and manner of most of these notices. They are to the effect that "Andrew Johnson's speech is a disappointment to the public mind," that he has "failed to fulfill the expectations of the country;" that his speech was "verbose and egotistical," etc., etc.

What right had the public mind to expect anything from Andrew Johnson above the grade of the average productions of the average politician? Whoever expected more than this, or whoever supposed Andrew Johnson would be anything else than verbose and egotistical, must have supposed that a few years of retirement and meditation had produced a wonderful improvement in the old gentleman. His performances on the rostrum and in the forum have always been pitched on the low key of the political harangue. He never made a great speech in his life, never in a single instance gave warrant to anybody to expect anything from him that would be much above the level of that celebrated speech about the constitution, which he delivered at so many points in the circle which he "swung" round. Something like eighteen months ago we heard Mr. Johnson make a speech at Washington city which was certainly "verbose and egotistical" to the last degree, and that was about all there was of it; but we confess we were not surprised nor disappointed, nor anything of that sort. Nobody ever yet heard him make a speech characterized by broad and comprehensive views such as are the mark of a statesman-like mind; and nobody had a right to expect such an effort or to be disappointed at not hearing it when he undertook to discuss the Louisiana complications.

THE FIRST CASE.

Chicago sends the first case under the Civil Rights bill to the Supreme Court of the United States. A respectable colored man slipped into the fashionable restaurant of Mr. Burke and ordered breakfast. The steward addressed, referred the case to Mr. Burke, who promptly informed the colored man that he could not be served at that place. The latter immediately swore out a warrant for Burke and had him arrested. Able counsel having been retained, the case was pushed through the inferior courts by stipulations, &c., as rapidly as possible, and an agreed case is made up on the facts for the Supreme Court. Mr. Burke places the transaction entirely on the business proposition that to serve customers of this class would destroy his business, and he claims the right to keep a house for the accommodation of such classes of persons as he chooses and to exclude all other classes. If the case can be sped through the Supreme Court with the same promptness and celerity that has been shown thus far, it will not be long till the country will know what the court of last resort thinks of the constitutionality of the new law; and that court is, for all practicable purposes, infallible.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.

It is not too early to call the attention of our citizens to the fact that next Monday is the day of the annual school meeting. Since the repeal of the old law, under which a rabble could gather in the school building and crowd out the legal and responsible voters of the district, the selection of directors has been made in the interest of the schools, and not in the interest of rings, as it was too frequently before. But this is one of the matters that can only be kept in good hands by constant watchfulness on the part of good people. The excellent free schools of this city can be only maintained through the choice of directors who have the subject at heart; and such choice will be made only when the people who have a stake in community go to the polls and vote. And then, too, the amount of money involved—nearly $40,000 annually in this district—is no trifling item in these times. We have a good board of directors now; let us introduce none but a first-class man into it.

During the debate on the Louisiana resolution, on March 23, in the Senate, says the Press report, Thurman characterized the resolution as a whitewashing one, and said it was a new doctrine, this approving the action of the President in enforcing the laws of the United States. Suppose he did enforce the law; it was his sworn duty to do so. The fact was that those who voted for the resolution voted in effect that Kellogg was the legal governor of Louisiana, and that the legislature which elected Pinchback was a legal legislature; and how any man believing the contrary could vote for the resolution was beyond his comprehension.

Christiancy said he understood the resolution in its present form as simply implying a recognition of the Kellogg government as the de facto government, and that the resolution approved the President's course so far only as it was directed to the protection of that government and the people of Louisiana against domestic violence and civil war, and to the enforcement of the laws of the United States, without approving any interference of the military with the legislative body or in the creation of a State government. Believing this, and without retracting or qualifying the views he announced on March 6th, on the Louisiana question, he would vote for the resolution. If he thought the resolution would bear the construction attributed to it by some of the senators who had spoken, he could not vote for it.

We find the following in the San Francisco Chronicle of March 23d:

The Oregon Central Pacific company have announced their determination to push the road from Winnemucca, Nevada, to Portland, Oregon, through with all possible speed, and work will be commenced on it this spring.

Only let this prove true, and Oregon will begin to look up again.

The Bulletin intimates that the OREGONIAN has been "waiting to take the Bulletin's place" when the latter is squelched. The ring organ has said a good many hard things about us, but that last is "the most unkindest cut of all." Any place in journalism but that!

The Attorney General has given an opinion in which he holds that the General Government is bound to pay the 3-65 bonds of the District of Columbia.

CALIFORNIA FILLING UP.

[S. F. Chronicle, March 25.]

In a country of the extent, resources and population of the United States, emigration is a valuable and much-to-be-desired addition to the labor-capital and producing power of the nation. Hence, the ebb and flow of the tide is watched with interest and chronicled with gratulation or anxiety according as an increase or diminution of the influx of population from abroad has been registered. A number of our Eastern contemporaries have recently manifested considerable concern in regard to certain signs which seem to indicate that there has actually been a turn in the tide of emigration which has so long set with a steady movement from the old world to the new. It appears to be a fact not to be disputed that if this current is not now setting in the opposite direction, it has grown so weak and sluggish that its real course can hardly be discerned. A few years ago the European steamships seldom carried even a handful of steerage passengers from the United States; they are now said to be carrying them week after week by the thousand. The New York Times, alluding to this subject, says the large number of the industrial classes who have come here from England and Scotland are returning discontented, and discouraged with their American experience, and it adds:

They are not returning upon a mere venture. They have tried both the old country and the new; they understand something of both, and they deliberately prefer the old. It is of no use shutting our eyes to these facts; neither is it enough to try and find consolation in the thought that such a relief to the labor market in this country at the present time ought to be made a source of congratulation rather than the reverse. We cannot see any advantage to be derived by this country from the movement, unless it be in the lesson that it presents, and which certainly deserves some consideration.

But however it may be at the East, the tide of emigration to California, instead of slackening, or showing any signs of slackening, has been steadily increasing; and at present it is larger in volume and more rapid in its rate than ever before. Emigrants are pouring in by rail, steamer and sailing vessel, not only from the principal countries of Europe, but from every portion of the United States. They come to seek refuge from the growing inclemency and frightful rigor of the winters along the north Atlantic seaboard; from the blight and insect-plagues of the Northwest; from the turmoil and violence and social disorder of the South. The movement develops and strengthens in an ever-increasing ratio, as almost every man and woman who comes from less favored sections to find a home here helps to advertise the State by writing glowing accounts of its attractions to those whom they have left behind, or by sending them papers and periodicals setting forth the resources of California, the loveliness of her climate, the charms of her scenery and the varied productiveness of her soil. The calamities which, during the last twelve months, have fallen upon less favored sections, have given so powerful an accelerating impulse to the Westward movement, that we do not think it extravagant to estimate that the increase of our population by immigration for the year 1875 will not fall short of 150,000 souls.

Meantime the railroad authorities are making preparations to accommodate 300 immigrants daily, which accommodation will probably require to be increased when the season fairly opens. In addition to the immigration by rail and steamer, a considerable number of families from Texas and Arkansas arrive every year in the old fashioned, primitive style—by wagon. Of the Chinese element, there is good reason to hope that the arrivals will not greatly exceed the departures. Making a reasonable estimate of the natural increase we may calculate upon an addition of 150,000 to the population of the State for the year. If of this number San Francisco shall receive 50,000, and shall continue for seven years to increase in a like ratio, she will at the expiration of that time contain in round numbers half a million of inhabitants.

COMPTROLLER-GENERAL OF SOUTH CAROLINA.—CHARLESTON, S. C., March 23.—The Legislature to-day elected Thomas C. Dunn Comptroller-General. He is a Northern Republican, but was elected to the State Senate by the Conservatives, and was chairman of the Reform Republican executive committee during the last campaign.

WEDDING CEREMONY.—A correspondent sen us the following: "Last Thursday evening th monotony of life in East Portland was r lieved by one of those joyous events that pen trate the quietude of social life. The festi occasion arose from Mr. J. R. Truman's lea ing to the hymeneal altar one of our faire maidens, Miss Zora Kelly. Early in the even ing the capacious rooms of Mr. Kelly's com modious house were astir with arrivals fro all quarters—sparkling eyes, rosy cheeks an lovely smiles floating and dancing 'midst el gant attires. The arrival of Rev. D. J. Pier brought all to a subdued climax of ex tion, broken by the appearance of the happ couple, preceded by their attendants, whe soon the beautiful ce ony was conclude and they were pronounced husband an them the honest and heartfelt good wishes

a numerous host of friends."

BARK ARCHITECT.—On Wednesday mornin
the bark Architect, which was stranded o
Clatsop spit last Monday afternoon, was sol at auction for the benefit of the crew. Th purchaser was Mr. Carr, and the price pa was $52 50. Capt. Johnson, the same day took a boat and went down to the wreck. H succeeded in securing some sails and a smal portion of the rigging. Wednesday night wa very rough and boisterous, and it was though that scarcely a vestige of the wreck remaine above water yesterday morning. It is quit probable that the purchaser will be able to ob tain several hundred dollars' worth of article from the wreck. When the craft goes t pieces valuable portions of the rigging will b washed ashore and can be secured. The re without foundation. Neither the captain no his wife were on board the vessel. Just prio

Fanny Morgan Phelps, Mr. Sawtelle and othe

Ruby in Puget Sound during the recent hurr quite fully given. The steamer is watche from the shore by an anxious multitude; sh is seen to labor heavily in the storm—to fa

WILL FILED.—The San Francisco Post of March 23d says: "The will of Mary Wyche, filed to-day, bequeaths as follows: To her aunt, Mrs. Stella B. Sexton, $5,000; also $1,000 in trust to be spent by her in charitable purposes as she may think best; also $500 for the purpose of keeping the graves of the decedent's mother and sister; to her uncle, Rev. Wyche, of Mississippi, $1,000; to her cousin, Fanny Wyche, of Texas, $2,000; to her cousin, Fanny Rainey, of Mississippi, $500; to her aunt, Lizzie Morrison, of Hind county, Mississippi, $3,000; to her friend and pastor, Rev. G. H. Wells, of Walla Walla, $2,500, $2,000 of which is to be spent by him for benevolent purposes; to her friend, Miss Helen Aubur, of Walla Walla, $1,000; to her friend Agnes Glasford, of Walla Walla, $500; to her uncle, Carlos Bancroft, of Portland, Oregon, $1,000; to her grandmother, Mrs. A. N. Bancroft, of Portland, Oregon, $1,000; to her cousin, Kate Bancroft, only daughter of H. H. Bancroft, $50, for the purchase of a King Charles dog, or otherwise, as cousin Kate may desire; to her friend, Mrs. Hannah Bissett, of Alameda $500; to her aunt, Mrs. Stella B. Sexton, all books, pictures, jewelry, silverware and wearing apparel, which, however, are to be for her aunt and other persons, as the testatrix may request; to her cousin H. H. Bancroft, $500, as a token of appreciation of his friendship and kindness; all the remainder of her property is bequeathed to the Ladies' Protection and Relief Society of San Francisco. H. H. Bancroft is nominated administrator. It is claimed by some of the heirs that the testatrix is a minor. A contest will probably arise on this point."

WEDDING CEREMONY.—A correspondent sends us the following: "Last Thursday evening the monotony of life in East Portland was relieved by one of those joyous events that penetrate the quietude of social life. The festive occasion arose from Mr. J. R. Truman's leading to the hymeneal altar one of our fairest maidens, Miss Zora Kelly. Early in the evening the capacious rooms of Mr. Kelly's commodious house were astir with arrivals from all quarters—sparkling eyes, rosy cheeks and lovely smiles, floating and dancing midst elegant attires. The arrival of Rev. D. J. Pierce brought all to a subdued climax of expectation, broken by the appearance of the happy couple, preceded by their attendants, when soon the beautiful ceremony was concluded, and they were pronounced "husband and wife." The father of the bride, Mr. Hampton Kelly, advanced and presented the bridegroom with a large, handsome family Bible, accompanied by choice and pithy words of counsel. After the joy of numberless congratulations, the company repaired to the dining-room in the good old style, to partake of viands of the most recherche description. Gayety reigned supreme during the evening, and a few days afterward, when the happy couple departed to their new home at Silverton, they took with them the honest and heartfelt good wishes of a numerous host of friends."

BARK ARCHITECT.—On Wednesday morning the bark Architect, which was stranded on Clatsop spit last Monday afternoon, was sold at auction for the benefit of the crew. The purchaser was a Mr. Carr, and the price paid was $52 50. Capt. Johnson, the same day, took a boat and went down to the wreck. He succeeded in securing some sails and a small portion of the rigging. Wednesday night was very rough and boisterous, and it was thought scarcely a vestige of the wreck remained above water yesterday morning. It is quite possible that the purchaser will be able to obtain several hundred dollars' worth of articles from the wreck. When the craft goes to pieces valuable portions of the rigging will be washed ashore and can be secured. The report which has been given publicity that the captain's wife was on board the Architect is without foundation. Neither the captain nor his wife were on board the vessel. Just prior to the sailing of the bark from San Francisco, the wife of the captain was taken ill, necessitating the husband to remain there. The first mate took temporary command of the vessel when she sailed for Astoria. When the ship Pactolus came over the bar the mate of the Architect undertook to follow that vessel in, and, getting becalmed, went ashore.

LIVELY FOR DEAD PERSONS.—The Victoria Colonist gives the following graphic description of a wreck which never took place: "The Puget Sound papers come filled with lamentations over the supposed perishing of Mrs. Fanny Morgan Phelps, Mr. Sawtelle and others of her troupe by the sinking of the steamer Ruby in Puget Sound during the recent hurricane. The circumstances of the perishing are quite fully given. The steamer is watched from the shore by an anxious multitude; she is seen to labor heavily in the storm—to fall into the trough of the sea—to pitch and toss and roll, and finally the steamer's whistle gives 'three toots' and she sinks beneath the wave. Horrible! Would it surprise our southern contemporary to learn that the 'three toots' of the despairing whistle yet linger unexpended in the valve; that the Ruby still walks the waters like a thing of life; that she did not fall into the trough of the sea, and that Mrs. Phelps, Mr. Sawtelle and the rest of the company are playing to full houses in this city."

HALLIARDS BROKEN.—During the heavy winds on Wednesday night, the halliards attached to the top of the lofty staff at the boneyard, where the telegraph wires cross the river, gave way, and let the lines down. Yesterday morning a sailor was hired to climb the staff and readjust the broken halliards. Notwithstanding the slippery condition of the staff, and the heavy wind prevailing at the time, this brave son of Neptune scaled the pole to the top. Holding on with one hand and his legs wound around the swaying staff at an altitude of 150 feet above terra firma, the sailor arranged the ropes with a steady nerve, and after completing the necessary work, slid safely down again. It was a most perilous task during the present weather, and reflects much credit on the daring fellow who so successfully accomplished it. Last evening the wires were raised and stretched across the river, and soon after were in working order.

IN LIMBO.—Luke Kuykendall, concerning whose questionable transactions in Portland lengthy mention was made some days ago, is again in serious trouble. He was arrested about two weeks ago on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, and held to answer in the sum of $1,000. In default of the necessary bonds, Kuykendall was committed to jail. Subsequently, bail was furnished and he was released. On Wednesday two other charges were preferred against him—one for forgery, and one for breaking open a letter. He was again arrested and held to answer each charge in the sum of $500. Kuykendall is now repining in jail in default of bonds. Present appearances indicate that before his [illegible] through the courts he will learn that the way of the transgressor is hard.

ACTOR GONE EAST.—The S. F. Chronicle of [illegible] says: C. William Nelson Decker, a young actor of the California Theater, received a telegram from the East on Sunday night, announcing a sudden and terrible bereavement. The shock brought on a severe illness which rendered him unable to appear at the theater. Last night he had so far rallied as to be able to start for New York by the overland train this morning to join the afflicted relatives. He had been re-engaged for another year, and his loss will be greatly felt by his numerous admirers among the audience, and the many friends he has made during his sojourn in this city.

NEW BRICK BUILDING.—Mr. F. Opitz, the well known baker, proposes to erect the present season, a two story brick building. This structure will occupy the lot which is situated between the bakery belonging to Mr. Opitz and Dr. Glisan's block. The dimensions are to be 80 by 80 feet. Messrs. McPhee and Bonbright have been awarded the contract for the brick and wood work, and Honeyman & Co. the iron work. Excavation for the foundation will be commenced at once, and the work pushed forward to completion.

Y. M. C. A.—On Saturdays the time will be occupied at the noon-day prayer-meeting at the Y. M. C. A. room in the study of the lesson for each succeeding Sabbath. This can be made one of the most interesting of these noon-day union prayer-meetings. A pastor, superintendent or teacher will direct them. It will be seen what a help they may become to Sunday-school workers. Lesson for next Sunday, April 4th, Joshua, 24, 14-18. Rev. Mr. Bentley leader for to-morrow.

TOOK THE VAIL.—On Wednesday morning, the 31st ult., at the Convent Chapel of the Sisters of the Most Holy Names of Jesus and Mary, was performed one of those imposing ceremonies peculiar to the Catholic Church—the reception into the Order of three young ladies—Miss Alodie Beauchamp, who took the religious habit and received the name of Sister Mary Zenobia, Miss Anna Costello, who made her profession, and who will hereafter be known as Sister Mary James, and Miss Virginia McDermott, who also made the final vows, and is henceforth Sister Mary Stephen.

THE LAST DAY.—For the accommodation of taxpayers, the time in which all unpaid county taxes would be declared delinquent, was continued three days longer from April 1st. Such being the case, to-day and to-morrow will be the last opportunities afforded taxpayers to "pungle" without costs. Improve the chance, gentlemen, and walk up promptly to the sheriff's officce. Sheriff Jeffery, or his deputy, Mr. Norden, will receive you with smiles, take your loose coin and furnish you with a receipt. This is the third and last call; heed it.

LECTURE.—The fifth lecture now being given under the auspices of the Catholic Social Union will be delivered at Good Templar Hall, corner of Third and Alder streets, on Friday evening, April 9th, by John M. Gearin, Esq. Subject: The influence of the Purists and classic authors in forming and perfecting our style. Previous to the lecture musical selections will be rendered, in which Misses Showers, Fitzpatrick and Dwyer, Messrs. Atkinson and others will participate.

MONTHLY MISSIONARY CONCERT.—As next Sabbath will be the first Sabbath of the month, the usual missionary concert will be held in the Sabbath-school of the Taylor-street M. E. Church. The exercises will be such as to awaken an interest in Sabbath-schools and in missionary labors.

SOCIABLE.—A sociable will be given by the young people of the Congregational Church, on Wednesday evening next. The feature of the evening will be singing and recitations by some of the best readers of the city. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

MUSICAL AND LITERARY CONCERT.—The teachers and students of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary will favor the citizens of Portland with a grand musical concert at Masonic Hall, on Friday evening, April 9th.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

April came in boisterously.

Yesterday was a "pranky" day.

State Circuit Court this morning.

Collectors are dodging about the corners.

Steamer California will soon be due from Sitka.

Due this evening from San Francisco—steamer Ajax.

Last days to pay your county taxes—to-day and to-morrow.

Ex-Gov. Woods arrived at San Francisco on the 24th ult. from Washington.

Surveyor General Simpson has occupied quarters in the new custom-house.

Flooded streets yesterday morning. Surface drainage works like a charm (?).

We have heard of several practical jokes being played yesterday upon unsuspecting persons.

Out-door work has been temporarily suspended on account of the "refreshing April showers."

Hydrant water is as muddy now as that obtained from the river. It can readily be mistaken for cider.

Steamers ascending and descending the river have considerable difficulty in stemming the current and dodging the quantities of passing driftwood.

At last accounts the lighthouse tender, Shubrick, was down at the mouth of the Columbia, locating new buoys in place of those swept away by the ice.

Two or three Chinamen and as many Melican men engaged in a lively quarrel at the southend wood-yard yesterday. Several soreheads the result.

An item in the New York Sun says that Donald McKay and the Warm Spring Indians, who have been wandering in New England, are now fed and lodged as paupers in Fitchburg, Massachusetts.

As soon as the water recedes and leaves the old condemned ferry-boat, Portland No. 1, out on the beach, it is Mr. Knott's intention to take out all the machinery and boiler. At present the boat is completely submerged.

The clothes line in the yard attached to the residence of our west end reporter, was divested on Wednesday night of sundry articles very necessary in a well regulated family. He would like to catch the fellow who did it, even if the game law is in force.

LIQUOR ON ELECTION DAYS.

As the annual election for Clerk and School Directors takes place next Monday, the question has been asked us, by several persons, in relation to the law passed last session prohibiting the sale of or the giving away of intoxicating liquors upon days of election. Below we give the act as it stands in full:

Be it enacted, etc., SECTION 1. That it shall be unlawful in this State for any person to barter, sell, give away or in any manner dispose of any intoxicating liquor on the day of any general or special election of State, county or municipal officers within the State, district, county or corporation in which such election is held.

SEC. 2. Any person violating the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten nor more than thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 3. That it is hereby made the duty of all magistrates, sheriffs and constables to report to the grand jury all violations of the provisions of this act which may come to their knowledge in their respective counties; and all fines collected under this act shall be paid into and become a part of the common school fund of the county in which the same shall be collected.

Approved October 26, 1874.

There may be a question whether this law is intended to apply to an election in which only a portion of the citizens are entitled to vote, and which is only held a part of a day, from 2 to 4 o'clock P. M. And another question is, as to whether the "day of election" means simply during the time the polls are opened, or during the entire day, from sun to sun. We advise all interested parties to consult their legal advisors.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATER.—"Solon Shingle" and "One Thousand Pounds" were repeated last evening at the new theater to a fair audience. This evening "Oliver Twist" will be presented for the first time, Mr. Herne personating the character of Bill Sykes, which is considered his greatest bit of acting. Billie Deaves will assume the character of Oliver Twist, and the other characters are well cast.

We would suggest that something be done to avoid the noise occasioned by the shifting of scenery. It is very annoying, especially when an interesting scene is being enacted. "Lighthouse Cliff" will be presented for the matinee to-morrow.

OLDE FOLKES' CONCERT.—The large number of seats already disposed of is conclusive evidence that the public have not forgotten the concert to be given at Masonic Temple this evening. Last evening the Olympia Choral Club, numbering twenty-six persons, arrived in the city, and a grand rehearsal took place at Masonic Temple last night. To-day the programme will be issued from a proof-sheet of which we are led to believe that the entertainment will be as interesting and profitable as it is novel. Interspersed between the songs rendered by the Olympia Club will be some choice instrumental selections by some of our most proficient amateurs. Those having the concert in charge have caused only that number of tickets to be sold which will entitle the holder to a seat. Not a ticket more will be sold than the hall will comfortably seat. Reserved seats can be procured at the store of J. K. Gill, on First street.

PERSONAL.

A note from B. J. Pengra, Esq., states that he will be in Oregon about the middle of the present month. He is now in San Francisco.

ASTORIA LETTER.

OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT FURNISHES THE FULL PARTICULARS OF THE LOSS OF THE BARK ARCHITECT.

ASTORIA, March 30, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Astorians having experienced an equinoctial season of tempestuous winds and storms, comprising heavy gales, sudden squalls, rattling hail-storms, deluging rainfalls, with forked lightning and crashing thunder sandwiched between, such as the oldest inhabitants agree has not occurred during the past quarter of a century, had begun to congratulate themselves that nature had exhausted her forces, and that human agency had resisted her fierce assaults without sustaining very serious injury. Yesterday evening, however, the British ship Pactolus arrived in the harbor, and the steam-tug Astoria brought the news that the bark Architect, from San Francisco, in attempting to follow the ship into the channel across the bar—the wind failing her—had been compelled to drop her anchors in the breakers off Clatsop Spit. The report of her supposed position was such that no great danger was apprehended by the community. At an early hour this morning the steam-tug Astoria went down to render such assistance as she could. About 10 A. M., Lieut. Knapp, of Fort Stevens, with four soldiers arrived in town with the news that the vessel was on her beam-ends, the breakers washing over her decks, and the crew had taken to the rigging. At the Fort they had no life or other boat which could live through the surf, (a sad deficiency in such a place, which ought to be at once supplied) and, in fact, had had to borrow the boat in which they had come up to seek assistance.

The lighthouse tender Shubrick immediately got up steam, and with the life-boat and a volunteer crew of the British ship Enterprise and other boats and volunteers, proceeded at once to the scene of the wreck. Much anxiety was felt and a painful suspense endured by the community, as it was well known that Capt. Mansen, of the bark Architect was generally accompanied by his wife and child, and for them to survive a night so bitterly cold, in the rigging, seemed to be impossible. The sequel proved, however, that neither Capt. Mansen nor his wife were on board, he having remained over this trip in San Francisco.

About 2 P. M. the Shubrick returned and we were gladdened by the news that the master of the ill-fated bark had been rescued by the life-boat from Cape Disappointment and safely transferred on board the steamer. Your correspondent, in an interview with the Captain, obtained the following particulars:

The bark Architect, 307 tons, Capt. J. Mertegé, owned by the Oregon Trading Company, Cementville, W. T., left San Francisco 20th March; hove to off Columbia bar Thursday, 25th, at 10 P. M.; laid off and on till morning of 26th; from 7 A. M. till 12 M. was beating off the outer buoy waiting for tug; at 12 M. was abreast of buoy; no tug in sight; weather clear; strong flood tide; stood off W. S. W. to wait for the tug; saw ship Pactolus going in; tacked ship to N. W., after which found the flood tide had made and wind getting light and no tug in sight, had to stand in; stood in and found we were losing ground; wind getting less, hove the lead in five fathoms water; kept lead going, found we were drifting very fast, from 4½ to 3 fathoms, when we let go both anchors. In the meantime the Pactolus, having a pilot on board, had met the tug, passed Point Adams, and apparently come to an anchor. Set colors union down, expecting the tug to come to our assistance. Tug left the ship and came out and sounded around a while, but did not come near us. Seeing she was coming out again, I revered my flag to let her know I was afloat, but she passed about a mile to the south and then returned to the spit. Seeing she was not coming toward us, I again set colors union down and kept them flying till the tug was out of sight. The captain of the Pactolus seeing, no doubt, the perilous situation of my ship, and anxious to bring assistance, set his colors half-mast and union down.

On the ebb tide hove up one anchor and paid out 60 fathoms of chain on the other; set all sail and waited for wind; wind set in about dark with squalls from the north; let go the chain likewise spring; changed bearing from Cape Disappointment; when wind died away again, took one-half point from original position; let go second anchor; she laid very easy with 75 fathoms chain in 4 fathoms water until flood tide made, with her head to the breakers; she commenced to swing and drift astern about 8 P. M., the wind a dead calm; gave her more chain, but she struck for the first time, suddenly and very heavily; a second and a third time she struck heavily. Concluding she was going ashore, and aiming to go broadside on so as to save the crew and vessel, if possible, we unshackled the chain and let the anchor slip; she was soon on her beam ends and the breakers washing the decks and breaking half way up the masts; about 9 P. M. we had to take to the rigging, and there we passed the night. At 7 A. M. to-day, it being ebb tide, and seeing no appearance of assistance, with about a mile between us and shore, we commenced to build a raft and prepare to leave the wreck, as she was fast breaking up. We had the raft completed and were about ready to launch her as a forlorn hope, when the life-boat hove in sight, which was about 11 A. M. It was a welcome sight to us, as we considered our chances very slim, and we wish to tender our grateful thanks to all who assisted in saving our lives.

INCIDENTS.

Captain Munson, keeper of the lighthouse at Cape Disappointment, had watched very closely the movements of the bark on Monday afternoon and evening, and this morning, when the Astoria tugboat took word that the life boat was needed, she was ready, as was also Lieut. Sam. Jones and the Allen brothers of Fort Canby. A soldier, a prisoner, who had been a sailor, also volunteered, and his services, which are reported to have been signally valuable, were accepted. These brave men were the first to reach the wreck, and had succeeded in taking off the captain and all the crew, before any other assistance arrived. When the boats towed down by the Shubrick arrived, the tide had ebbed and they had no difficulty in boarding the wreck. Fortunately she was in ballast, and had but a small quantity of freight for the Knappton mills, where she was bound for a cargo of lumber. The Architect was an old vessel, and had seen much service. It was not known if she was [illegible]

Naturally, there are many opinions in regard to the tug not going [illegible] render assistance when the [illegible] ger. Capt. Wass, master of [illegible] the bar at every stage of the [illegible] any other man probably, and [illegible] states that the tug could not be [illegible] within a half mile of the vessel [illegible] turned back.

ITEMS.

The wreck of the Architect was [illegible] at auction, by order of the capt. [illegible] benefit of whom it may concern [illegible] knocked down to — Carr for $52 50. [illegible] immediately engaged men and [illegible] the stranded vessel to wreck her.

Latest reports from the wreck state [illegible] has broken in two amidships, masts to [illegible] ready to fall, and expected to go to p[illegible] the next tide.

The steamship Gussie Telfair arrived [illegible] 8 A. M. Heavy fog over the bar all day prevented her going to sea as yet.

SOMETHING NEW.

The new style of promenade photograph. These beautiful pictures are now made at Busco & Megler's new rooms, Nos. 127 and 129, First street. Call and examine them.

He has returned and the result of his visit to San Francisco you will observe by calling to-day. We speak of J. KOHN, who is so well known in Portland and throughout the State. The Goods are all out and he is ready to show what is new in the clothing line. The very latest styles will be found among the new importations and you must be hard to please if you cannot find something in his large stock. We warrant he will give you satisfaction in every respect. Call to-day, while the subject is fresh in your mind.

The Oriflamme brought a large invoice of Goods for Beck & Waldman, and additional lots will arrive on the steamer to arrive next week. This enterprising firm keep their stock well assorted, and for that reason they have a continuous run of customers who know this and of course are always able to find something new in the clothing line. Besides their varied stock of men's clothing and furnishing goods the firm keep a well selected stock of youth's suits, which every fond parent should call and see before making purchases. You will find them at the old corner always ready to serve the public.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

RELIGIOUS, LOCAL, PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

[From the P. C. Advocate.]

Over fifty names of Sabbath-school children are enrolled as members of the Sunday school praying band of the Taylor street M. E. church.

The third quarterly meeting for the Taylor street M. E. church was held on Sabbath last. At the close of the morning services seven persons presented themselves at the altar, as candidates for admission into the church, which makes in all 48 accessions since the 1st of January.

Miss Mary Cooke, who has had charge of the school on the Alsea Indian reservation during the past winter, has returned to her home in this city. We are sorry to report Miss Cooke quite an invalid, but hope with the return of the singing birds and opening flowers of spring, she will again appear in wonted health.

Some time since we called the attention of our readers to a fine opportunity of doing good by contributing school books for the use of the convicts in the State prison. The responses have been prompt and generous. We have boxed and sent quite a collection to the care of Mrs. Judge Thornton, who has been most active in promoting the welfare of the prisoners. The following persons are among the donors who have aided us in this important work: Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Royal, Mrs. Pittock, Mrs. Lane, Mrs. Hoyt, Mrs. Deady, Mrs. Z. B. Tozier, Rev. C. Kelley and Mrs. W. H. Hunter.

[From the Sentinel.]

The next regular meeting of the St. Vincent de Paul Society will be held on Sunday, the 11th inst., at 3 o'clock, and thenceafter every two weeks until further notice.

The Emmet Guard ball, which annually takes place on Easter Monday night, is postponed in consequence of the recent death of an honorary member—Mr. W. P. Burke.

Every Monday, Wednesday and Friday there will be instruction in the Cathedral, commencing at 4 o'clock, for all children who are being prepared for the first communion.

Himes, the well-known printer, is out again in a card to the public. He knows how to turn out a piece of job work, as our citizens observe daily. Not only this, he is moderate in his charges, and, finally, you can depend on receiving your order at the time appointed. All these things considered, it is well to give him your favors. CITY.

WILL FILED—The San Francisco Post of March 23d says The will of Mary Wyche filed to-day bequeaths as follows To her aunt, Mrs Stella B Sexton $5 000 also $1 000 in trust to be spent by her in charitable purposes as she may think best also $500 for the purpose of keeping the graves of the decedent's mother and sister to her uncle Rev Wyche, of Mississippi $1 000 to her cousin Fanny Wyche of Texas $2 000 to her cousin Fanny Rainey, of Mississippi $500 to her aunt Lizzie Morrison of Hind county Mississippi $3 000 to her friend and pastor Rev E H Wells, of Walla Walla $2 000 $2 000 of which is to be spent by him for benevolent purposes to her friend Miss Helen Auburr of Walla Walla, $1 000 to her friend Agnes Glasford of Walla Walla $500 to her uncle Carlos Bancroft, of Portland Oregon $1,000 to her grandmother Mrs A N Bancroft of Portland, Oregon, $1 000 to her cousin Kate Bancroft, only daughter of H H Bancroft $50, for the purchase of a King Charles dog or otherwise as cousin Kate may desire to her friend, Mrs. Hannah Bissett, of Alameda $500 to her aunt Mrs Stella B Sexton, all books pictures jewelry, silverware and wearing apparel, which, however, are to be for her aunt and other persons as the testatrix may request to her cousin H H Bancroft $500, as a token of appreciation of his friendship and kindness all the remainder of her property is bequeathed to the Ladies Protection and Relief Society of San Francisco H H Bancroft is nominated administrator It is claimed by some of the heirs that the testatrix is a minor A contest will probably arise on this point

WEDDING CEREMONY—A correspondent sends us the following 'Last Thursday evening the monotony of life in East Portland was relieved by one of those joyous events that penetrate the quietude of social life The festive occasion arose from Mr J R Truman's leading to the hymeneal altar one of our fairest maidens, Miss Zora Kelly Early in the evening the capacious rooms of Mr Kelly's commodious house were astir with arrivals from all quarters—sparkling eyes rosy cheeks and lovely smiles floating and dancing 'midst elegant attires. The arrival of Rev D J. Pierce brought all to a subdued climax of expectation, broken by the appearance of the happy couple, preceded by their attendants when soon the beautiful ceremony was concluded and they were pronounced 'husband and wife.' The father of the bride Mr Hampton Kelly advanced and presented the bridegroom with a large, handsome family Bible, accompanied by choice and pithy words of counsel After the joy of numberless congratulations the company repaired to the dining room in 'the good old style,' to partake of viands of the most recherche description Gayety reigned supreme during the evening, and a few days afterward, when the happy couple departed to their new home at Silverton, they took with them the honest and heartfelt good wishes of a numerous host of friends.'

BARK ARCHITECT—On Wednesday morning the bark Architect, which was stranded on Clatsop spit last Monday afternoon, was sold at auction for the benefit of the crew The purchaser was a Mr Carr, and the price paid was $52 50 Capt. Johnson, the same day, took a boat and went down to the wreck He succeeded in securing some sails and a small portion of the rigging Wednesday night was very rough and boisterous, and it was thought that scarcely a vestige of the wreck remained above water yesterday morning It is quite probable that the purchaser will be able to obtain several hundred dollars' worth of articles from the wreck. When the craft goes to pieces valuable portions of the rigging will be washed ashore and can be secured The report which has been given publicity that the captain's wife was on board the Architect is without foundation Neither the captain nor his wife were on board the vessel. Just prior to the sailing of the bark from San Francisco the wife of the captain was taken ill, necessitating the husband to remain there. The first mate took temporary command of the vessel when she sailed for Astoria When the ship Pactolus came over the bar the mate of the Architect undertook to follow that vessel in, but, getting becalmed, went ashore.'

LIVELY FOR DEAD PERSONS—The Victoria Colonist gives the following graphic description of a wreck which never took place The Puget Sound papers come filled with lamentations over the supposed perishing of Mrs Fanny Morgan Phelps, Mr Sawtelle and others of her troupe by the sinking of the steamer Ruby in Puget Sound during the recent hurricane. The circumstances of the perishing are quite fully given The steamer is watched from the shore by an anxious multitude she is seen to labor heavily in the storm—to fall into the trough of the sea—to pitch and toss and roll, and finally the steamer's whistle gives 'three toots' and she sinks beneath the wave Horrible! Would it surprise our southern contemporary to learn that the 'three toots' of the despairing whistle yet linger unexpended in the valve, that the Ruby still 'walks the waters like a thing of life,' that she did not fall into the trough of the sea, and that Mrs Phelps, Mr Sawtelle and the rest of the company are playing to full houses in this city '

HALLIARDS BROKE.—During the heavy winds on Wednesday night the halliards attached to the top of the lofty staff at the boneyard, where the telegraph wires cross the river, gave way, and let the lines down Yesterday morning a sailor was hired to climb the staff and readjust the broken halliards. Notwithstanding the slippery condition of the staff, and the heavy wind prevailing at the time, this brave son of Neptune scaled the pole to the top Holding on with one hand and his legs wound around the swaying staff at an altitude of 150 feet above terra firma, the sailor arranged the ropes with a steady nerve, and after completing the necessary work, slid safely down again It was a most perilous task during the present weather, and reflects much credit on the daring fellow who so successfully accomplished it Last evening the wires were raised and stretched across the river, and soon after were in working order.

IN LIMBO—Luke Kuykendall concerning whose questionable transactions in Portland lengthy mention was made some days ago is again in serious trouble He was arrested about two weeks ago on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses and held to answer in the sum of $1,000 In default of the necessary bonds, Kuykendall was committed to jail. Subsequently bail was furnished, and he was released On Wednesday two other charges were preferred against him—one for forgery and one for breaking open a letter He was again arrested and held to answer each charge in the sum of $500 Kuykendall is now repining in jail in default of bonds. Present appearances indicate that before he gets through the courts he will learn that the way of the transgressor is hard

ACTOR GONE EAST—The S F Chronicle of the 24th ult says William Nelson Decker the popular young actor of the California Theater received a telegram from the East late on Sunday night, announcing a sudden and terrible bereavement The shock brought on a severe illness which rendered him unable to appear at the theater Last night he had so far rallied as to be able to start for New York by the overland train this morning to join his afflicted relatives He had been re-engaged for another year, and his loss will be greatly felt by his numerous admirers among the audience and the many friends he has made during his sojourn in this city

NEW BRICK BUILDING—Mr I Opitz the well known baker proposes to erect the present season a two story brick building. LOCAL BREVITIES.

April came in boisterously

Yesterday was a 'pranky' day

State Circuit Court this morning

Collectors are dodging about the corners

Steamer California will soon be due from Sitka

Due this evening from San Francisco—steamer Ajax

Last days to pay your county taxes—to day and to morrow

Ex Gov Woods arrived at San Francisco on the 24th ult from Washington

Surveyor General Simpson has occupied quarters in the new custom house

Flooded streets yesterday morning Surface drainage works like a charm (?)

We have heard of several practical jokes being played yesterday upon unsuspecting persons.

Out-door work has been temporarily suspended on account of the 'refreshing April showers '

Hydrant water is as muddy now as that obtained from the river It can readily be mistaken for cider

Steamers ascending and descending the river have considerable difficulty in stemming the current and dodging the quantities of passing driftwood

At last accounts the lighthouse tender Shubrick was down at the mouth of the Columbia locating new buoys in place of those swept away by the ice

Two or three Chinamen and as many Melican men engaged in a lively quarrel at the southend wood yard yesterday Several sore heads the result

An item in the New York Sun says that Donald McKay and the Warm Spring Indians who have been wandering in New England, are now fed and lodged as paupers in Fitchburg, Massachusetts

As soon as the water recedes and leaves the old condemned ferry boat Portland No 1 out on the beach it is Mr Knott's intention to take out all the machinery and boiler At present the boat is completely submerged

The clothes line in the yard attached to the residence of our west end reporter, was divested on Wednesday night of Sundry articles very necessary in a well regulated family He would like to catch the fellow who did it even if the game law is in force.

LIQUOR ON ELECTION DAYS

As the annual election for Clerk and School Directors takes place next Monday the question has been asked us by several persons in relation to the law passed last session prohibiting the sale of or the giving away of intoxicating liquors upon days of election Below we give the act as it stands in full

Be it enacted etc, SECTION 1 That it shall be unlawful in this State for any person to barter, sell give away or in any manner dispose of any intoxicating liquor on the day of any general or special election of State county or municipal officers within the State district county or corporation in which such election is held

SEC 2 Any person violating the provisions of this act shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $200 or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten nor more than thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court

SEC 3 That it is hereby made the duty of all magistrates sheriffs and constables to report to the grand jury all violations of the provisions of this act which may come to their knowledge in their respective counties and all fines collected under this act shall be paid into and become a part of the common school fund of the county in which the same shall be collected

Approved October 26 1874

There may be a question whether this law is intended to apply to an election in which only a portion of the citizens are entitled to vote and which is only held a part of a day from 2 to 4 o clock P M And another question is as to whether the day of election means simply during the time the polls are opened or during the entire day from sun to sun We advise all interested parties to consult their legal advisors

AMUSEMENTS

THEATER—'Solon Shingle' and 'One Thousand Pounds' were repeated last evening at the new theater to a fair audience This evening 'Oliver Twist' will be presented for the first time Mr Herne personating the character of Bill Sykes, which is considered his greatest bit of acting Rillie Deaves will assume the character of Oliver Twist and the other characters are well cast

We would suggest that something be done to avoid the noise occasioned by the shifting of scenery It is very annoying, especially when an interesting scene is being enacted Lighthouse Cliff will be presented for the matinee to morrow

OLDE FOLKES CONCERT—The large number of seats already disposed of is conclusive evidence that the public have not forgotten the concert to be given at Masonic Temple this evening Last evening the Olympic Choral Club numbering twenty six persons arrived in the city and a grand rehearsal took place at Masonic Temple last night To day the programme will be issued from a proof sheet of which we are led to believe that the entertainment will be as interesting and profitable as it is novel Interspersed between the songs rendered by the Olympic Club will be some choice instrumental selections by some of our most proficient amateurs Those having the concert in charge have caused only that number of tickets to be sold which will entitle the holder to a seat Not a ticket more will be sold than the hall will comfortably seat Reserved seats can be procured at the store of J K Gill on First street

OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT FURNISHES THE FULL PARTICULARS OF THE LOSS OF THE BARK ARCHITECT

ASTORIA March 30 187

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Astorians having experienced an equinoctial season of tempestuous wind and storm comprising heavy gales sudden squalls rattling hail storms deluging rainfalls with forked lightning and crashing thunder and which between such is the oldest inhabitants agree has not occurred during the past quarter of a century had begun to congratulate themselves that nature had exhausted her forces and that human agency had resisted her fierce assaults without sustaining very serious injury Yesterday evening however the British ship Pactolus arrived in the harbor and the steam tug Astoria brought the news that the bark Architect from San Francisco in attempting to follow the ship into the channel across the bar—the wind failing her—had been compelled to drop her anchors in the breakers off Clatsop Spit The report of her supposed position was such that no great danger was apprehended by the community At an early hour this morning the steam tug Astoria went down to render such assistance as she could About 11 A M Lieut Knapp of Fort Stevens, with four soldiers arrived in town with the news that the vessel was on her beam ends the breakers washing over her decks and the crew had taken to the rigging At the Fort they had no life or other boat which could live through the surf (a sad deficiency in such a place which ought to be at once supplied) and in fact had had to borrow the boat in which they had come up to seek assistance

The lighthouse tender Shubrick immediately got up steam and with the life-boat and a volunteer crew of the British ship Lutery and other boats and volunteers proceeded at once to the scene of the wreck. Much anxiety was felt and a painful suspense endured by the community as it was well known that Capt Mansen of the bark Architect was generally accompanied by his wife and child, and for them to survive a night so bitterly cold in the rigging, seemed to be impossible The sequel proved, however that neither Capt Mansen nor his wife were on board, he having remained over this trip in San Francisco

About 2 P M the Shubrick returned and we were gladdened by the news that the master of the ill fated bark had been rescued by the life boat from Cape Disappointment and safely transferred on board the steamer. Your correspondent in an interview with the Captain obtained the following particulars

The bark Architect 307 tons, Capt I Mertege owned by the Oregon Trading Company Cementville W T left San Francisco 20th March hove to off Columbia bar Thursday 25th at 10 P M laid off and on till morning of 26th from 7 A M till 12 M was beating off the outer buoy waiting for tug at 12 M was abreast of buoy no tug in sight, weather clear strong flood tide stood off W S W to wait for the tug saw ship Pactolus going in tacked ship to N W after which found the flood tide had made and wind getting light and no tug in sight, had to stand in stood in and found we were losing ground wind getting less hove the lead in five fathoms water kept lead going, found we were drifting very fast, from 4½ to 3 fathoms when we let go both anchors In the meantime the Pactolus having a pilot on board had met the tug passed Point Adams and apparently come to an anchor. Set colors union down expecting the tug to come to our assistance Tug left the ship and came out and sounded around a while, but did not come near us. Seeing she was coming out again I reversed my flag to let her know I was afloat, but she passed about a mile to the south and then returned to the spit Seeing she was not coming toward us I again set colors union down and kept them flying till the tug was out of sight The captain of the Pactolus seeing no doubt the perilous situation of my ship and anxious to bring assistance set his colors half-mast and union down

On the ebb tide hove up one anchor and paid out 60 fathoms of chain on the other set all sail and waited for wind wind set in about dark with squalls from the north let go the chain likewise spring changed bearing from Cape Disappointment when wind died away again took one half point from original position let go second anchor the land very easy with 75 fathoms chain in 4 fathoms water until flood tide made with her head to the breakers, she commenced to swing and drift, astern about 8 P M the wind a dead calm gave her more chain, but she struck for the first time, suddenly and very heavily a second and a third time she struck heavily Concluding she was going ashore and aiming to go broadside on so as to save the crew and vessel, if possible, we unshackled the chain and let the anchor slip she was soon on her beam ends and the breakers washing the decks and breaking half way up the masts about 11 P M we had to take to the rigging and there we passed the night. At 7 A M to-day, it being ebb tide and seeing no appearance of assistance with about a mile between us and shore we commenced to build a raft and prepare to leave the wreck as she was fast breaking up We had the raft completed and were about ready to launch her as a forlorn hope, when the life boat hove in sight which was about 11 A M It was a welcome sight to us, as we considered our chances very slim and we wish to tender our grateful thanks to all who assisted in saving our lives

Captain Munson keeper of the lighthouse at Cape Disappointment had watched very closely the movements of the bar on Monday afternoon and evening and this morning, when the Astoria tugboat took word that the life boat was needed she was ready as was also Lieut Sam Jones and the Allen brothers of Fort Canby A soldier a prisoner who had been a sailor also volunteered and his services which are reported to have been signally valuable were accepted These brave men were the first to reach the wreck, and had succeeded in taking off the captain and all the crew before any other assistance arrived When the boats towed down by the Shubrick arrived the tide had ebbed and they had no difficulty in boarding the wreck Fortunately she was in ballast and had but a small quantity of freight for the Knappton mills, where she was bound for a cargo of lumber The Architect was an old vessel and had seen much service It is not known if she was [illegible]

Naturally there are many opin[illegible] in regard to the tug not goin[illegible] render assistance when the [illegible]ger Capt Wass master of the [illegible] the bar at every stage of the [illegible] any other man probably and [illegible] states that the tug could not [illegible] within a half mile of the vessel [illegible] turned back

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 2, 1875.

A MARDI-GRAS INCIDENT.

SKINNER PLAYS "INJUN" AND LOSES HIS SCALP.

The Mardi-gras procession in Louisville was witnessed by large crowds, and the ludicrous impersonations of character will live long in the memories of the masses, who laughed until their sides ached. Among the motly host who perambulated the streets in the procession, was a long, cadaverous-looking fellow, representing a Comanche Indian. His face was painted red, his suit was well made up. Upon his ponderous feet were a pair of new moccasins; and, hanging from the beaded girt that encircled his body, were half a dozen "hoss pistols" and as many scalps. Inside this belt stuck a cheese-knife and a scythe blade.

His long black hair was banded with a brass hoop, from which stuck about a dozen of turkey and goose feathers, and in his right hand he held with an iron grasp a tomahawk, red with some victim's blood. Any one who had ever read or heard of the famous warrior, Bloody Nose, would have said he had risen from the dead, and joined that procession. But it was not the blood-thirsty rover of the forest. It was Skinner who personated him, and he did it to perfection. His appearance was a terror to women and children, while his war-whoop and the revolutions of that bloody tomahawk were certain death to "de culled population." Everybody saw the wild Indian, but nobody knew it was Skinner.

While the procession moved through the various streets, Skinner would get dry and break ranks by dodging into bar-rooms and taking his usual dose of "fire-water." By the time Skinner had "war-whooped" ten or fifteen blocks, and had about half a keg of "fire-water" about his person, he was in "fine trim" to play Comanche, and began to think he was "Bloody Nose," sure enough, for he tried to "scalp" no less than a dozen darkies that fell into his hands.

The procession passed within a square or two of Skinner's house. Skinner has a wife, and she is the mother of five little male and four female Skinners. Skinner's wife does her own work; in fact, she's "boss" of Skinner's house, and, instead of rushing off with a string of little Skinners after her, to see the procession, she kept the little ones at home, and stayed in the kitchen attending to cleaning the pots, kettles and pans after dinner.

A new idea struck Skinner. He would go home and scare Mrs. Skinner and all the little Skinners. He cut loose from the procession, took another dose of "fire-water," and by the time he reached the front gate he was the most reckless looking Comanche the world ever beheld. Picking up new courage, he rushed into the front room where the little Skinners were "playing circus." His appearance was accompanied by wild yells and fancy dancing, while he made that tomahawk fly around the room over the children's heads, as if he meant business, the little Skinner's shouting:

"Oh, Mr. Injin, don't!" "Mother!" "Murder!" "Fire!" and there were such screams as would have made any "sure enough," Indian run.

Skinner was just in the middle of his fun, when the screams of the children and the war-whoop of the Comanche brought Mrs. Skinner to the scene, armed with an iron skillet. She slipped up behind the "playful Indian," drew a bead on his nose, and landed that skillet with the force of a sledge-hammer and the rapidity of lightning against it. The hand let go the tomakawk, the feathers flew, the belt bursted, and the scalps, pistols and knives fell to the floor. There was a flash and blood spot in the middle of the face where that nose was a moment before the skillet mashed it. It now looked like a bursted tomato spread all over his face. There was a groan, a fall, a somersault or two, and all was quiet. That Comanche had found the "happy-hunting-grounds."

Instead of Mrs. Skinner sending for the doctor and bathing his face, she looked down into his mutilated face, and shaking the skillet over him with her right hand, exclaimed:

"I'll war-whoop you! You thought you'd scare somebody, you darned old fool; but I know'd you soon as I seed your feet and smelt your breath."

P. S.—Skinner has an Indian masquerade suit for sale cheap. He won't be able to get out until he gets done breathing through his ears. The doctor says his nose may grow out again by the time the next Mardi-gras takes place.

HOW TO SAVE A CHILD FROM CHOKING.—I was engaged in hauling wood from a timber ranch in Austin, Reese river, Nevada. There was a house over the summit from the above place, where resided two families belonging to the wood choppers, and, on arriving in sight of the house, a woman came out and beckoned me to make haste, that something was wrong. I did so, and just in time, for the other woman came out holding a child in her arms, apparently dead. It was black in the face. She told me the child had been eating pine nuts, and had got a shell in its throat, had choked, and was dying. I immediately got a piece of board about four feet long and placed it across the door-sill. She sat the child on one end and I tipped the other, making a sudden jar, which caused the shell to pass downward, and gave the child immediate relief. No person can imagine how overjoyed that mother was for saving her only child. I know of several cases in which the process has proved successful.—Letter to Sacramento Union.

HE HAD BUSINESS.—A Macomb street woman stood at the gate the other evening as a boy came up, and she angrily exclaimed:

"John Henry, didn't I tell you to hurry back with that paregoric? You've been gone half an hour!"

"Well, I couldn't help it," replied the boy. "There was a chap down there who was going to lick Billy Smith, and they swore, and dared each other, and spit on their hands, and I knew that dad would want to hear how it came out."—Detroit Free Press.

A WOMAN'S EXPERIMENT.—The other day a Peoria woman, wanting some lead to stop a hole in the wash-boiler, set a copper-revolver cartridge on the stove to melt the bullet. She says she was just stooping over to see if it had melted, when the earthquake came along. Her only consolation is that when she grows old and has to wear spectacles, she will only need a pair with one glass in them, as one of her eyes went away with the earthquake to look for the transit.

LARGE CITIES OF THE WORLD.—Recent statistics published show that there are in the whole world about 164 cities with 100,000 inhabitants; 9 with over 1,000,000; 12 with from 1,000,000 down to 500,000; 20 with from 300,000 to 400,000; 33 with 200,000 to 300,000, and 90 with from 100,000 to 200,000. The aggregate of the population of these 164 cities comprises 50,000,000 inhabitants.

Great trusts [illegible] drels, but great to be sought by scoundrels and perfect integrity never seek them among scoundrels. [illegible] a premium even [illegible] they will never commit some trusts. There are occasions when each other services of true men, and they need them in shoals and in the mud, not find and in pure water.—Dr. Holland.

Latest Liverpool wheat quotations 9s 2d for average California ex warehouse, and 9s 8d@9s 11d for club.

We find on inquiry no sufficient ground to believe some reports of further advances in the Liverpool wheat market; though we hear of no telegrams since the beginning of the week at which our last quotations of 9s 2d@9s 5d for average California and 9s 7d@10s for club were given. A private dispatch from London to-day quotes the flour market dull with a firm feeling in wheat, but no advance is mentioned.

The shipments of treasure during the past month were quite large, judging from the date obtainable, and though no scarcity has been felt that has materially affected business circles, there is hardly so free a feeling in the money market as there was a month ago. The loanable funds in market are yet ample to supply the ordinary legitimate demand, which cannot be considered as brisk for the season. To state the matter clearly, there seems to be no disposition on the part of people generally to branch out extensively in new directions or to greatly enlarge present business enterprises. There seems no lack of confidence in the ultimate prosperousness and growth of business in our State, but a sort of doubt as to immediate results.

The general market to-day does not offer any matter for extended comment, the volume of business being limited by reason of heavy weather, though some orders at hand from Eastern Oregon and Washington Territory cause shipments in that direction to be quite lively. The first boat to connect through to Wallula will leave Portland to-morrow morning with a large freight.

The Grangers' Wheat.

In reference to the decision recently rendered in the fourth district court of California in the case of Charles Green et al vs. Daniel Meyer et al, the Chronicle says:

Judge Morrison reviewed the connection of Morgan's Sons with the Grangers. The evidence shows that the wheat was to be shipped in the names of the farmers—the owners. Mr. Green and others sent to Vallejo this wheat to be shipped on the Pride of the Port. It having been placed on board of the vessel, Whitcott, the agent of Morgan's Sons here, procured bills of lading in the name of Morgan's Sons, and invoices in the same form, and transferred to him; whereupon Meyer made advances upon the wheat. Morgan's Sons failed to pay the Grangers the advances which they agreed to pay them, and when the plaintiff ascertained what had been done in respect to this wheat he went to Daniel Meyer and demanded of him the possession of the property. Meyer refused to deliver the possession, and hence this action. The court imputes to Meyer no actual fraud, but admits that at the time he made the advances to Whitcott he knew that the Grangers were the owners of the wheat, and therefore he did not receive it in good faith within the meaning of the law.

The schooner Dreadnought was towed down to Carroll's Point, on the Columbia, to-day, where she will load stave bolts for San Francisco.

We can find no shipper in this city who is aware to whom the ship J. A. Thompson (mentioned yesterday) is chartered.

Shipping Intelligence.

The bark Menshikoff has finished loading with stave bolts and sailed for San Francisco.

The British bark Clifton was to have sailed from San Francisco for Portland on last Monday.

The steamer Ajax will probably sail hence for San Francisco on the 5th or 6th inst.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Arrived—Steamer Oriflamme, Portland.

Sailed—Ship Jamestown, Callao; schooner Alice Haake, Nicolaefski; British ship Lochee, Cork; German bark Joseph Haydn, Burrard Inlet; bark Oregon, Seabeck; steamer City of Tokio, Hongkong via Yokohama.

San Francisco Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—Flour—Extra, $5@5 37½. Wheat—$1 60@1 67½ for fair to choice milling. Barley—Feed, $1 37½@1 42½; brewing, $1 47½@1 62½.

Oats—$1 75 down to $1 50.

Hay—$10@16.

Potatoes—$1 95 down to $1 60.

Provisions—California bacon, 13½@15c; hams, 13@16c; lard—14@17c for prime; pork—$16.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market has been quite steady during the week under review, the uniform quotations being $1 40 ₩ cental, at which but few seem willing to sell. Buyers are also apparently unwilling to advance on these figures, having, as they claim, enough to load the vessels which are here and choosing rather to trust the future for such as are to arrive. There is probably a surplus yet remaining to load fifteen or twenty medium-sized ships, but those holding a good portion of it are likely able to carry it over until next harvest, rather than part with it at the rates now current. The extremely bad condition of the roads will tend to reduce the deliveries on the lines of transportation, and the principal part of that which was for sale in the warehouses has already been purchased, and the remainder will be held for better prices.

FLOUR—There is some demand for shipping, but most of the mills are grinding under contract. The Salem mills are loading the La Escocesa; the Magnolia and the Albany mills will each ship about 4,000 barrels on the bark Arauco, and at present there is perhaps not more of surplus in the market than 15,000 or 18,000 barrels of leading brands, which is held at our last quotations of $4 50 ₩ bbl for standard extra. Inferior brands are unchanged.

OATS—We quote to-day at 50c ₩ bushel, including sacks. The surplus in reach of the cars and boats is very much reduced, and it is thought that the warehouses up the valley do not at this time contain more than 20,000 bushels, though the farmers doubtless hold a much larger quantity in their granaries and barns. There is a fair demand for choice lots in San Francisco for grinding at 60@63c ₩ bushel. It is believed that the acreage planted this spring in this valley will be in excess of any former year, if the weather should prove at all favorable.

BARLEY—The demand is fair for local consumption, but receipts very light. Quotable nominally at $1 25 ₩ hundred lbs for good feed and $1 35@1 40 for choice brewing.

MILL FEED—There is a scarcity of bran, shorts and middlings, but chopped feed is in fair supply. We quote jobber's prices for bran at $13@14 per ton, middlings $27@29, shorts $20.

HAY—Is still in moderate request at $10@11 per ton for timothy, with a decline in the receipts. Wild hay finds slow sale at $7@7 50.

POTATOES—There is a fair demand for good lots for shipment at 72½@75c per bushel, the range of quotations being 70@75c.

ONIONS—The market is in fair supply, and the demand dull at $1@1 25 ₩ 100 pounds for choice assorted.

APPLES, RIPE—The receipts are again becoming reduced, and choice lots are scarcer. However, the inquiry for shipping is not very active, and the local demand is fully supplied at 75c@$1 ₩ box according to quality.

APPLES DRIED—The trade is inactive, but prices are nominally steady at 5c ₩ lb, in sacks, and 6c in kegs.

BACON—There is something of a firmer tone to the market, but no important appreciation in prices since our last review. We note sales of sides at 11c ₩ lb; shoulders, 8@9c; hams, 14c; the latter properly quotable at 13@15c.

LARD—There is a fair demand for good quality in tins and kegs, quotable at 14c ₩ lb in the former, and 15c in kegs.

EGGS—The supply is hardly so full as last week, but owing to the light demand for shipping any considerable increase in receipts would soon send prices below 16c ₩ doz., at which we now quote.

BUTTER—The market is bare of choice lots, and short on all saleable qualities. We quote at 40c per lb for best roll, and 30@35c for common.

CHICKENS—Good lots quotable at $4 50; choice, $4 75@5 per dozen; common, $3 75@4 25.

DRESSED HOGS—The packing season having closed, the only demand is for the home trade and is not brisk at 6@6½c ₩ lb.

BEEF CATTLE—There have been but few arrivals of choice lots during the past week, and for such, prices have advanced to 6@6½c ₩ lb net on foot; ordinary quotable at 5@5½c.

MUTTON SHEEP—There is a scarcity of choice in the market and butchers are compelled to pay $4@4 50 per head for such; common quotable at $3 25@4.

HIDES AND FURS—A duller demand for shipping purposes prevails and receipts are light. We quote for choice dry 16½c ₩ lb; green salted, 7c; green, 6½c; culls, 10@12; elk, 22c ₩ lb; deer, 18@35c ₩ lb dried, and [illegible] green; mink skins, each $1@1 50; otter, $2@5; beaver, 50@[illegible].

WOOL—Very few transactions are taking place; best grades quotable at 20@22c ₩ lb; common to fair lots, 16@18c.

Premium Carriage Factory

E. SMITH,

CARRIAGE MAKER,

Cor. Jefferson and Front Streets,

PORTLAND, OREGON,

Is now making First-Class EXPRESS WAGONS, BUGGIES and CARRIAGES of all kinds.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"At the Oregon State Fair, recently held at Salem, Mr. E. Smith was awarded the First Premiums on an Open and also on a Top Buggy. The latter was built from a design published in the June number of The Carriage Monthly, styled 'Monitor Piano-Box Buggy,' and elicited much admiration.—The Philadelphia Carriage Monthly.

MR. E. SMITH, of Portland, has on exhibition at the State Fair two Buggies, both Open and Top, and certainly exhibit as good workmanship as can be found on the Coast, while several very important improvements have been added, especially in ironing the same so as not to weaken the axles, by putting the bolts through the same. The commendable enterprise that Mr. Smith has displayed, we understand, is being amply rewarded in our city. He will be awarded the first Premium.—Oregonian.

MR. E. SMITH, Carriage Maker, of Portland, exhibited one Open and one Covered Buggy upon the Fair Grounds, which deserve special mention. These Carriages are especially light and durable, and those in need of such a purchase—and who isn't—should call upon him before purchasing elsewhere. Of course Mr. Smith bore off the blue ribbons.—New Northwest.

MR. E. SMITH, Carriage Maker, corner of Front and Jefferson streets, took two Premiums at the State Fair for First-Class Buggies. This speaks well for his work, and is a credit to Portland.—Pacific Christian Advocate.

HOME MANUFACTURE.—Mr. E. Smith, Carriage Maker of this city, has some splendid Vehicles on exhibition at the Fair.—Temperance Star.

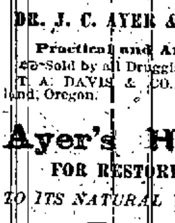
Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.



The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues.—Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, than can be made by medical skill. Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

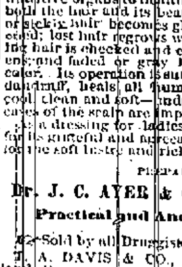
Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY & COLOR.



Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, by long and extensive use has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the Vigor is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Examination of Beecher

Was resumed. Witness first related the circumsta[illegible] ces of Bessie Turner's visit to him in Dec[illegible] 1870, when she came at Mrs Morris' request. [illegible] could only give the substance of what passed. [illegible] said she was told to ask him to go down to see M[illegible] Tilton at her mother's house, as she had left [illegible] husband on account of his ill treatment of her, ne[illegible] er to return. She said she was cognizant of his [illegible] lence; that he had struck her (Bessie) once or twi[illegible] and that he had sought her company in her b[illegible] and told her that such expressions of love were [illegible] natural as kissing and caressing. He never hea[illegible] from any other source of this relation between T[illegible] ton and Miss Turner. Witness was questioned w[illegible] reference to his religious experience. He said [illegible] joined Hanover-street Congregational Church, B[illegible] ton, in 1828, when he was fifteen, and had alw[illegible] maintained relation with the Congregational Pr[illegible] byterian Church. He never got any instruction [illegible] religion, as the atmosphere in his home was full [illegible] it, and as pure as crystal.

He was next questioned about his visits to T[illegible] ton's house. He remembered little Paul's dea[illegible] Witness was suffering from ague at the time, [illegible] went down and saw Mr. and Mrs. Tilton at [illegible] time of Ralph's birth. He did not remember m[illegible] ing any particular visits or making any gifts [illegible] flowers during the summer. He used to bring li[illegible] baskets of flowers from his farm and distrib[illegible] them right and left. He continued: "I don't [illegible] member any visit to Mr. Tilton while Mrs. Ca[illegible] was there, or any scene when Mrs. Tilton sat on [illegible] knee or lap. I don't remember that she ever [illegible] dressed me as 'my father,' or 'dear father.' [illegible] always called me 'Mr. Beecher,' or 'my friend,' [illegible] 'sir,' when she was addressing me. I don't reme[illegible] ber an interview with Mrs. Tilton when Mr. Ri[illegible] ards was present. I have no recollection of [illegible] ing any visit in the morning at ei[illegible] when Mr. Brazier was passing, but th[illegible] may have been. I cannot remember. Duri[illegible] their residence at 174 Livingstone street from 18[illegible] to 1870, my visits on an average were from once [illegible] ten days to once in three weeks. My visits th[illegible] were not oftener than thirteen times in a ye[illegible] During these visits my manner was much the sa[illegible] as in my own home. They kept an open house a[illegible] allowed their friends the utmost freedom. The ch[illegible] dren were almost always present at these vis[illegible] They were no inconsiderable part of my visits, a[illegible] sometimes they secured the visits altogether. [illegible] conversations were of various kinds; of books, [illegible] erature, and above all, of Theodore Tilton. [S[illegible] sation.] Mrs. Tilton's manner of speaking of [illegible] husband was kind and eulogistic. When she [illegible] closed the religious difference between them, I [illegible] much surprised. She consulted me in regard [illegible] her duty to her husband and children. She ask[illegible] me if it was right to bring up children unde[illegible] parent who seemed to have a doubt of the truth [illegible] the Bible, and disbelieved in the divinity of Chri[illegible] Witness thought this was about 1867. When he [illegible] became acquainted with Mrs. Tilton, he [illegible] chiefly struck by her simplicity of man[illegible] and during her domestic trials was impressed [illegible] her religious nature. She was always talking [illegible] her husband, and appeared devoted to him. [illegible] feelings toward witness were as her pastor [illegible] friend. He never thought she displayed any sy[illegible] pathy or closer affection. She had a life-long [illegible] spect and esteem for him. He had the utm[illegible] respect and affection for her as a Christian wom[illegible] wife and mother, but no affection in any other c[illegible] nection. He remembered well the fact that [illegible] prayer meeting night, and after it, he went to [illegible] Academy of Music. He saw Mrs. Tilton at [illegible] meeting and had a conversation with her at [illegible] being present at a dinner of Rev. Morley Punche[illegible] Their conversation was in reference to [illegible] had no recollection of being in town on the 17th [illegible] October, but might have been. Nothing occu[illegible] on either the 10th or 17th of October between [illegible] Tilton and witness to impress itself on his m[illegible] Up to December, 1870, there had never been [illegible] undue familiarity between them. He never dir[illegible] ly or indirectly made an improper propositio[illegible] her. "I never had any favors from her. It wo[illegible] be impossible with such a woman. I never [illegible] any carnal intercourse or connection during [illegible] time with Mrs. Tilton."

[This caused applause from the audience, wh[illegible] was suppressed by officers under direction of [illegible] court.]

Witness was handed the letter sent to him by Til[illegible] through Bowen, dated Dec. 26, and said: "I rem[illegible] ber receiving such a letter. Bowen brought me [illegible] letter and said it was from Tilton. I opened and [illegible] it, and said, 'This is sheer insanity. This ma[illegible] crazy.' Bowen said he did not read it, and I ha[illegible] ed it to him to read. I made some expression [illegible] suprise that Tilton should have written such a [illegible] ter to me. Bowen said he and Tilton had some [illegible] ference between them, and he proceeded to [illegible] about Tilton. Said he had dismissed Tilton f[illegible] the editorship of the Independent to that of cont[illegible] utor, on account of business reasons, as Tilt[illegible] views did not agree with those of the paper. [illegible] when he had dismissed him, stories were told [illegible] about Tilton. One was with regard to a woma[illegible] Winstead, another was about a woman in [illegible] office to whom he had made improper [illegible] vances. I told him I was not surprised, [illegible] told him what Bessie Turner had told [illegible] and also said there was another woman w[illegible] whom rumor connected him. I asked [illegible] to see my wife and talk with her about it. He [illegible] pressed some repugnance at first, but afterwa[illegible] went into the parlor and spoke to her. Bowen [illegible] he had doubts as to whether he could retain [illegible] on the Brooklyn Union, and he could not retain [illegible] in any position on the Independent. Bowen g[illegible] more friendly, and on account of this attack [illegible] said I ought to go out of town and he would st[illegible] by me as a friend. This was near 5 in the a[illegible] noon of Dec. 26th. Between the 26th and 30th [illegible] December, he never had an interview with [illegible] heard from Bowen, Tilton or Mrs. Tilton. On [illegible] evening of the 26th of December, Moulton came [illegible] witness' house and said Tilton was at his house [illegible] wanted an interview immediately. Witness sai[illegible] was his prayer meeting night. Moulton said [illegible] some one to take your place, and go with me." [illegible] did so, and when part way to Moulton's, wit[illegible] asked what Tilton wanted. He replied he wo[illegible] see when he got there. There was some conve[illegible] tion about Tilton's leaving the Independent, [illegible] witness could not remember what. When M[illegible] ton and witness entered the house, the for[illegible] locked the door and said Tilton was in the up[illegible] front part waiting for witness. He asked Mou[illegible] to go up, but he said he had better go alone. T[illegible] met witness in the most stately manner, and c[illegible] requesting him to be seated, drew a small pa[illegible] from his pocket, and sitting down, said he [illegible] summoned him to this interview on a matt[illegible] importance. He asked if witness had receive[illegible] letter through Bowen, demanding my resigna[illegible] Witness said yes, and Tilton then said he wante[illegible] recall it, and wished him to consider it never [illegible] ten. He said it was a grand thing to write thi[illegible] ter, but referred to his troubles with Bowen [illegible] charged witness with being concerned in them [illegible] with acting against him. He said, I had not [illegible] injured him in business prospects, but had also [illegible] gratiated myself into his household, and had [illegible]
